KEY INSIGHTS

What the data tells us

1. Laptop A13 is the undisputed profit champion at ₦105.3M — Electronics drive the highest returns.
2. East Region leads all regions in both revenue (₦643M) and profit (₦128.6M) — a key market to protect and grow.

5. March is the peak performance month (₦633M revenue). April and Q2 planning should build on March momentum.

BUSINESS RECOMMENDATIONS

HIGH

Increase Marketing for High-Margin Products

Prioritize Laptop A13, Sofa Classic, and Desktop PC D21 in campaigns. These three products alone drive ₦243M in profit.

HIGH

Push Online Sales Expansion

Online channel has comparable margins to Store. Invest in digital marketing, UX improvement, and targeted online promotions to grow the 47% share.

MEDIUM

Review Pricing on Low-Margin Products

Blender B10 (₦6.9M) and Microwave M20 (₦13.4M) underperform. Re-evaluate cost structure or pricing strategy to improve returns.

HIGH

Focus Expansion on East & West Regions

East and West together contribute ₦1.26B in revenue. Allocate more sales resources, promotions, and inventory to these regions.

MEDIUM

Introduce Bundle Promotions for Home Appliances

Bundle low-performing appliances with high-selling electronics. Bundling can boost volume and improve overall category profitability.

CONCLUSION

Business is Profitable and Growing

This analysis confirms that the business maintains a healthy 20% profit margin across all regions, channels, and customer segments. With Laptop A13 and Electronics as key profit drivers, the East region leading geographically, and both Online and In-Store channels performing strongly, the foundation for accelerated growth is in place.

By focusing on digital expansion, optimising low-margin products, and doubling down on high-performing regions, the business is well-positioned to exceed its 2025 targets.
